1. The Committee, at its ninety-first session, continued its consideration of a draft convention on wreck removal (DWRC), using, as a basis for discussion, a revised draft which incorporated amendments agreed by the Committee at its previous session and proposals developed intersessionally following the ninetieth session. The Committee undertook an “article-by-article” reading of the draft convention and confirmed its approval of several provisions. The Committee also introduced several amendments to the text.

2. The Committee considered a definition of “warship”, which had been proposed as a result of the intersessional consultations, and decided that this definition was not necessary, since it reflected the definition contained in article 29 of the 1982 United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS).

3. The Committee decided to include a new paragraph in article 10, which would clarify that the obligation of the State affected by the wreck (“the affected State”) to provide the registered owner with certain information, was connected to, and consistent with, the obligation of all States parties to require the master and operator of a ship to report the identity and principal place of business of the ship’s registered owner.

4. The Committee agreed that, at its ninety-second session, it would discuss the possible figures for inclusion in the square brackets in article 13 regarding the length of ships required to maintain compulsory insurance. The Committee requested the Secretariat to provide examples from other IMO conventions to the lead delegation, which might assist it in its intersessional consultations. In this connection, after appropriate consultations, the Secretariat is of the opinion that “gross tonnage” as defined in the International Convention on Tonnage Measurement of Ships, 1969 (TONNAGE 1969) would be a better way of determining the overall volume of a ship, than length. While technical treaties contain various definitions of length, depending on their application, “gross tonnage” is universally accepted and has only one definition, which is contained in the 1969 Tonnage Convention. In addition, it should also be borne in mind that ships carry on board a tonnage certificate and that shipping statistics are usually based on tonnage. Accordingly, in consultation with the lead delegation, the Secretariat proposes to replace the criterion of “length” with “gross tonnage” throughout draft article 13 on compulsory insurance or evidence of financial security.

5 The Committee also considered an oral proposal to include in article 16 a reference to the compulsory procedures for the settlement of disputes contained in Part XV, Section 2, of UNCLOS, but decided to maintain the current text for the time being.

6 The Committee decided to include, as a footnote in the text for further consideration at its next session, a proposal for the inclusion of a new paragraph to article 17 aimed at clarifying that the draft convention does not legally confer any authority upon coastal States with respect to wrecks of States which are not party to the convention, or otherwise interfere with the rights and obligations, (including navigational rights and jurisdiction over flag States) of such States, beyond that provided under customary international law as reflected in UNCLOS.

7 The Committee noted two working papers which had been prepared by the Secretariat, one containing a draft preamble, and the other on entry-into-force requirements in IMO “legal” conventions. In this regard, it was agreed that the lead delegation would consider the draft preamble and would submit proposals on figures for the entry-into-force requirements, in consultation with interested delegations and the Secretariat.

8 The Committee agreed that the draft convention would be finalized at its ninety-second session, on the understanding that the Diplomatic Conference would be held from 14 to 18 May 2007, in Nairobi, Kenya. In this connection, the Committee thanked the Government of Kenya for its generous offer to host the Diplomatic Conference.

9 The Committee requested the Secretariat, in consultation with the lead delegation and interested delegations, to edit and prepare a new version of the draft text for its consideration by the Committee at its ninety-second session.

10 Accordingly, the annex to this document contains an edited version of the DWRC, which was prepared by the Secretariat in consultation with the lead delegation, following the ninety-first session of the Legal Committee. The text approved by the Committee at its last session appears in normal print. Editorial proposals developed intersessionally by the Secretariat in consultation with the lead delegation are marked in bold. Editorial proposals by the Secretariat are italicized. Footnotes have been included to recall the decisions taken by the Committee at its ninety-first session.

Preamble

[THE STATES PARTIES TO THE PRESENT CONVENTION,

CONSCIOUS of the fact that wrecks, if not removed, may pose a hazard to navigation or the marine environment,

CONVINCED of the need to adopt uniform international rules and procedures to ensure the prompt and effective removal of wrecks and payment of compensation for the costs therein involved,

BEARING IN MIND the importance of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, done at Montego Bay on 10 December 1982, and of the customary international law of the sea,

5 “Hazard” means any condition or threat that:
   (a) poses a danger or impediment to navigation; or
   (b) may reasonably be expected to result in major harmful consequences to the marine environment, or damage to the coastline or related interests of one or more States;

6 “Related interests”³ means the interests of a coastal State that is directly affected or threatened by a wreck, such as:
   (a) maritime coastal, port and estuarine activities, including fisheries activities, constituting an essential means of livelihood of the persons concerned;

   (c) the health of the coastal population and the well being of the area concerned, including conservation of marine living resources and of wildlife; and
   (d) offshore and underwater infrastructure.

7 “Removal” means any form of prevention, mitigation or elimination of the hazard created by a wreck. “Remove”, “removed” and “removing” shall be construed accordingly.

8 “Registered owner” means the person or persons registered as the owner of the ship or, in the absence of registration, the person or persons owning the ship, at the time of the maritime casualty. However in the case of a ship owned by a State and operated by a company which in that State is registered as the operator of the ship, “registered owner” shall mean such company.

3 Such measures shall not go beyond what is reasonably necessary to remove a wreck which poses a hazard and shall cease as soon as the wreck has been removed; they shall not unnecessarily interfere with the rights and interests of other States including the State of the ship’s registry, and of any persons, physical or corporate, concerned.

4 The application of this Convention within the Convention area shall not entitle a State Party to claim or exercise sovereignty or sovereign rights over any part of the high seas.

ARTICLE 6⁸

Reporting wrecks

1 A State Party shall require the master and the operator of the ship flying its flag to report to the Affected State without delay, when that ship has been involved in a maritime casualty involving that ship has resulted in a wreck. To the extent that the reporting obligation under this article has been fulfilled either by the master or the operator of the ship, the other of them shall not be obliged to report accordingly.

2 Such reports shall provide the name and the principal place of business of the registered owner and all the relevant information necessary for the Affected State to determine whether the wreck poses a hazard in accordance with the factors in article 7, including, inter alia:

(a) the precise location of the wreck;
(b) the size, type and construction of the wreck;
(c) the nature of the damage to, and the condition of, the wreck;

(a) size, type and construction of the wreck;
(b) depth of the water in the area;
(c) tidal range and currents in the area;
(d) particularly sensitive sea areas identified and, as appropriate, designated according to guidelines adopted by the Organization, or a clearly defined area of the exclusive economic zone where special mandatory measures have been adopted pursuant to article 211, paragraph 6, of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea 1982;

(i) vulnerability of port facilities;
(j) prevailing meteorological and hydrographical conditions;
(k) submarine topography of the area;
(l) height of the wreck above or below the surface of the water at lowest astronomical tide;
(m) acoustic and magnetic profiles of the wreck;
(n) proximity of offshore installations, pipelines, telecommunications cables and similar structures; and

\(^9\) The Committee reconfirmed its approval of this article. (See LEG 91/12, paragraph 26.)
ARTICLE 8\(^{10}\)

Locating wrecks

1 Upon becoming aware of a wreck the Affected State shall use all practicable means, including the good offices of States and organizations, to urgently warn mariners and the coastal States concerned of the nature and location of the wreck as a matter of urgency.

2 If the Affected State has reasonable cause to believe that a wreck poses a hazard, it shall ensure that all reasonable practicable steps are taken to establish the precise location of the wreck.

ARTICLE 9\(^{11}\)

Marking of wrecks

1 If a wreck is determined by the Affected State to constitute a hazard, that State shall ensure that all reasonable steps are taken to mark the wreck.

2 In marking the wreck, all practicable steps shall be taken to ensure that the markings conform to the internationally accepted system of buoyage in use in the area where the wreck is located.

3 The Affected State shall promulgate the particulars of the marking of the wreck by use of all appropriate means, including the appropriate nautical publications.

ARTICLE 10\(^{12}\)

Measures to facilitate the removal of wrecks

1 If the Affected State determines that a wreck constitutes a hazard, the Affected State shall immediately:

(a) so inform the State of the ship’s registry and the registered owner; and

(b) proceed to consult the State of the ship’s registry and other States affected by the wreck regarding measures to be taken in relation to the wreck.

2 The registered owner shall remove a wreck determined to constitute a hazard.

3 When a wreck has been determined to constitute a hazard, the registered owner, or another interested party, shall provide the competent authority of the Affected State with evidence of insurance or other financial security as required by article 13.

\(^{10}\) At LEG 91, the Committee amended and approved this article. (See LEG 91/12, paragraph 27.)

\(^{11}\) At LEG 91, the Committee amended and approved this article. (See LEG 91/12, paragraph 28.)

4 The registered owner may contract with any salvor or other person to perform the removal of the wreck determined to constitute a hazard on the owner’s behalf of the owner. Before such removal commences, the Affected State may lay down conditions for such removal only to the extent necessary to ensure that the removal proceeds in a manner that is consistent with safety and environmental considerations.

5 When such the removal referred to in paragraphs 2 and 4 has commenced, the Affected State may intervene in the removal only to the extent necessary to ensure that the removal proceeds effectively in a manner that is consistent with safety and environmental considerations.

6 The Affected State shall:

   (a) set a reasonable deadline within which the registered owner must undertake the removal of the wreck taking into account the nature of the hazard determined in accordance with article 7;

   (b) inform the registered owner in writing of the deadline it has set and specify that, if the registered owner does not undertake the removal of the wreck within that deadline, the State may undertake the removal at the registered owner’s expense; and

   (c) inform the registered owner in writing that it intends to intervene immediately in circumstances where the hazard becomes particularly severe.

7 If the registered owner does not remove the wreck within the deadline set in accordance with paragraph 6(a), or the registered owner cannot be contacted, by the Affected State, the State may undertake the removal of the wreck by the most practical and expeditious means available, consistent with considerations of safety and protection of the marine environment.

8 If, however, in circumstances where immediate action is required in accordance with paragraph 6(c) and the Affected State has informed the State of the ship’s registry and the registered owner accordingly, it may undertake the removal of the wreck by the most practical and expeditious means available, consistent with considerations of safety and protection of the marine environment.

9 States Parties shall take any appropriate measures under their national law to ensure that their registered owners comply with paragraphs 2 and 3.

10 States Parties give their consent to the Affected State to act under paragraphs 4 to 9, where required.

11 The information referred to in this article shall be provided by the Affected State to the registered owner as identified\(^\text{13}\) in the reports referred to in article 6, paragraph 2.

\(^{13}\) See LEG 91/12, paragraph 37: the Committee agreed to include the proposed new paragraph 11 subject to the replacement of the words “as set out in” by the words “as identified in”.

2 To the extent that measures under this Convention are considered to be salvage under applicable national law or an international convention, such law or convention shall apply to questions of the remuneration or compensation payable to salvors to the exclusion of the rules of this Convention.

ARTICLE 13

Compulsory insurance or evidence of financial security

1 The registered owner of a ship of over [........] metres in length gross tonnage and above and flying the flag of a State Party shall be required to maintain insurance, or other financial security, such as a guarantee of a bank or similar institution, to cover liability under this Convention in an amount equal to the limits of liability for the ship calculated in accordance with article 6(1)(b) of the International Convention on Limitation of Liability for Maritime Claims, 1976, as amended.

(a) name of the ship, distinctive number or letters and port of registry;

(b) name and principal place of business of the registered owner;

(c) IMO ship identification number;

(d) type and duration of security;

16 See LEG 91/12, paragraphs 50 to 66 for discussion of this article.
17 See LEG 91/12, paragraphs 51 and 52: In compliance with the request of the Legal Committee, the Lead Delegation, in consultation with the Secretariat suggests that “gross tonnage”, as defined in the International Convention on Tonnage Measurement of Ships, 1969 (TONNAGE 1969), is a more appropriate criterion to indicate the overall volume of a ship.
18 At LEG 91, the Committee decided to delete the words “at least” [before the words “equal to”].
19 See LEG 91/12, paragraph 59: The Committee decided to maintain the text unchanged.
20 See footnote 17.
(e) name and principal place of business of insurer or other person giving security and, where appropriate, place of business where the insurance or security is established;

(f) period of validity of the certificate, which shall not be longer than the period of validity of the insurance or other security.

4 (a) A State Party may authorize either an institution or an organization recognized by it to issue the certificate referred to in paragraph 3. Such institution or organization shall inform that State of the issue of each certificate. In all cases, the State Party shall fully guarantee the completeness and accuracy of the certificate so issued and shall undertake to ensure the necessary arrangements to satisfy this obligation.

(b) A State Party shall notify the Secretary-General of:

(i) the specific responsibilities and conditions of the authority delegated to an institution or organization recognized by it;

(ii) the withdrawal of such authority; and

(iii) the date from which such authority or withdrawal of such authority takes effect.

An authority delegated shall not take effect prior to three months from the date on which notification to that effect was given to the Secretary-General.

(c) The institution or organization authorized to issue certificates in accordance with this paragraph shall, as a minimum, be authorized to withdraw these certificates if the conditions under which they have been issued are not maintained. In all cases the institution or organization shall report such withdrawal to the State on whose behalf the certificate was issued.

5 The certificate shall be in the official language or languages of the issuing State. If the language used is not English, French or Spanish, the text shall include a translation into one of these languages and, where the State so decides, the official language of the State may be omitted.

6 The certificate shall be carried on board the ship and a copy shall be deposited with the authorities who keep the record of the ship’s registry or, if the ship is not registered in a State Party, with the authorities issuing or certifying the certificate.

7 An insurance or other financial security shall not satisfy the requirements of this article if it can cease for reasons other than the expiry of the period of validity of the insurance or security specified in the certificate under paragraph 3 of this article, before three months have elapsed from the date on which notice of its termination is given to the authorities referred to in paragraph 6 of this article, unless the certificate has been surrendered to these authorities or a new certificate has been issued within the said period. The foregoing provisions shall similarly apply to any modification, which results in the insurance or security no longer satisfying the requirements of this article.
8 The State of the ship’s registry shall, subject to the provisions of this article and having regard to any guidelines adopted by the Organization on the financial responsibility of the registered owners, determine the conditions of issue and validity of the certificate.

9 Nothing in this Convention shall be construed as preventing a State Party from relying on information obtained from other States or the Organization or other international organizations relating to the financial standing of providers of insurance or financial security for the purposes of this Convention. In such cases, the State Party relying on such information is not relieved of its responsibility as a State issuing the certificate required by paragraph 3.

10 Certificates issued and certified under the authority of a State Party shall be accepted by other States Parties for the purposes of this Convention and shall be regarded by other States Parties as having the same force as certificates issued or certified by them, even if issued or certified in respect of a ship not registered in a State Party. A State Party may at any time request consultation with the issuing or certifying State should it believe that the insurer or guarantor named in the certificate is not financially capable of meeting the obligations imposed by this Convention.

11 Any claim for compensation arising under this Convention may be brought directly against the insurer or other person providing financial security for the registered owner's liability. In such a case the defendant may invoke the defences (other than the bankruptcy or winding up of the registered owner) that the registered owner would have been entitled to invoke, including limitation of liability under any applicable national or international regime. Furthermore, even if the registered owner is not entitled to limit liability, the defendant may limit liability to an amount equal to the amount of the insurance or other financial security required to be maintained in accordance with paragraph 1. Moreover, the defendant may invoke the defence that the maritime casualty was caused by the wilful misconduct of the owner himself, but the defendant shall not invoke any other defence, which the defendant might have been entitled to invoke in proceedings brought by the registered owner against the defendant. The defendant shall in any event have the right to require the registered owner to be joined in the proceedings.

12 A State Party shall not permit any ship entitled to fly its flag to which this article applies to operate at any time unless a certificate has been issued under paragraph 3 or 15 of this article.

13 Subject to the provisions of this article, each State Party shall ensure, under its national law, that insurance or other security to the extent required by paragraph 1 is in force in respect of any ship of over […….]^21 metres in length gross tonnage and above, wherever registered, entering or leaving a port in its territory, or arriving at or leaving an offshore facility in its territorial sea.

14 Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph 6, a State Party may notify the Secretary-General that, for the purposes of paragraph 13, ships are not required to carry on board or to produce the certificate required by paragraph 3, when entering or leaving ports or arriving at or leaving from offshore facilities in its territory, provided that the State Party which issues the certificate required by paragraph 3 has notified the Secretary-General that it maintains records in an electronic format, accessible to all States Parties, attesting the existence of the certificate and enabling States Parties to discharge their obligations under paragraph 13.

^21 See footnote 17.
15 If insurance or other financial security is not maintained in respect of a ship owned by a State Party, the provisions of this article relating thereto shall not be applicable to such ship, but the ship shall carry a certificate issued by the appropriate authority of the State of registry stating that it is owned by that State and that the ship’s liability is covered within the limits prescribed in, paragraph 1. Such a certificate shall follow as closely as possible the model prescribed by paragraph 3.

ARTICLE 14\(^{22}\)

Time-bar

Rights of compensation under this Convention shall be extinguished unless an action is brought hereunder within three years from the date when the hazard has been determined in accordance with this Convention article 7. However, in no case shall action be brought after six years from the date of the maritime casualty that resulted in the wreck. Where this maritime casualty consists of a series of occurrences, the six-year period shall run from the date of the first occurrence.

ARTICLE 15\(^{23}\)

Amendment Provisions

1 A conference for the purpose of revising or amending this Convention may be convened by the Organization.

2 The Organization shall convene a Conference of States Parties for revising or amending this Convention, at the request of not less than one-third of States Parties.

3 Any consent to be bound by this Convention expressed after the date of entry into force of an amendment to this Convention shall be deemed to apply to this Convention as amended.

Final Provisions
